

The Ohio

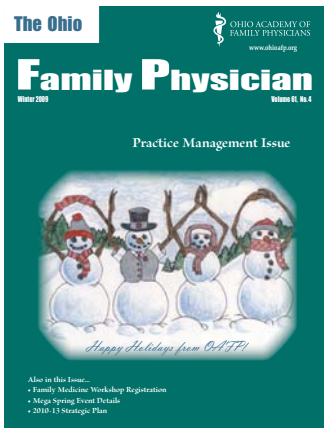

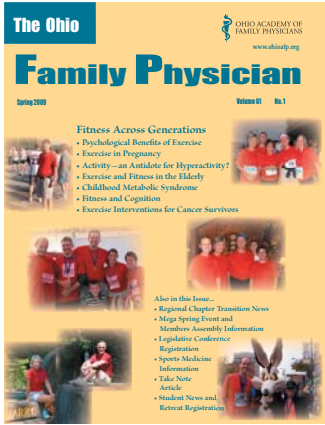

Family Physician

is an accredited continuing medical education journal, published quarterly and mailed in mid- March, June, September and December.

Typical subject matter includes features on clinical topics and other subjects that affect today's family physicians including the patient-centered medical home, practice management and technology, and health care advocacy and legislation.

The magazine also serves as a vehicle for OAFP to communicate important dates, partnerships, conferences, opportunities and other news.

The current circulation is 4,400. Subscribers include the entire OAFP membership, Ohio and national legislators, American Academy of Family Physicians state chapter executives, Ohio medical associations, and Ohio medical libraries.
